SUBJECT	Agenda Item 10 (Contemporary & Emerging Issues Committee) (b): Update Regarding Review of Association of State and Provincial Psychology Boards (ASPPB) Draft E.Passport Guidelines established by the ASPPB Task Force on Telepsychology

Latest Information Downloaded from the ASPPB Web Site:

APA/ASPPB/APAIT Task Force on Telepsychology Guidelines: The ASPPB Board of Directors and the APA Council of Representatives approved the establishment and funding of an inter-organizational task force to develop telepsychology practice guidelines and address regulatory concerns and liability issues involved particularly in relation to practice across jurisdictional boundaries. The joint Task Force recently completed the development of Telepsychology Guidelines, and is now working on a transition document which will link the guidelines to standards/principles regarding telepsychology. ASPPB has a separate Telepsychology Task Force whose primary task has been to consider the issue of the regulation of telepsychology practice. The ASPPB Telepsychology Task Force has developed a regulatory mechanism, called the E. Passport, which would allow licensed psychologists to practice telepsychology in jurisdictions which accept the E.Passport. The Taskforce is currently in the process of consulting with regulators and other stakeholders with regard to the E. Passport concept. The next step for the task force will be the consideration and development of model regulatory language.
